As they navigate the path from 'low emission' to 'no emission', transport companies and fleet operators face a range of challenges that go beyond the vehicle itself. To provide them with the best possible support with this, MAN Truck & Bus is creating a specialised team of consultants for personalised transport solutions offering maximum cost efficiency. In addition to the vehicle itself, this will cover issues relating to infrastructure and energy demand, as well as maintenance concepts and the fleet design.

"Each customer can select whichever components of our range of services they need, as we provide personalised advice and consultancy. For example, we can use our simulation tools to assist them with route planning or with depot design and layout," explained Stefan Sahlmann, who is heading up the consultancy team at MAN Truck & Bus. The service portfolio covers the complete use of the vehicles – both trucks and buses – ranging from operation and infrastructure to servicing and maintenance.

MAN Truck & Bus is one of Europe's leading manufacturers of commercial vehicles and supplier of transport solutions, with revenues of approximately €9 billion a year (2015). The product portfolio includes trucks, buses and diesel engines, as well as services related to passenger and cargo transport. A subsidiary of Volkswagen Truck & Bus GmbH, MAN Truck & Bus employs more than 35,500 people worldwide.
