“We are delighted that our long-standing partner MAN has extended its commitment to VfL Wolfsburg for another three years. Together we will continue the successful course,” emphasizes Thomas Röttgermann. Hartmut Sander is also pleased: “We have been on the road with VfL for six years now and have even joined them in celebrating a special triumph with the DFB Cup win in 2015. Many of the 2,500 employees at our Salzgitter production site are VfL fans. With the extension of our contract, we wish to build on our joint success to date and look forward to three more years together.”

MAN’s partnership goes far beyond providing a vehicle, but it does center on the VfL Wolfsburg team bus of course — an MAN Lion’s Coach L. “We want to put our sponsoring commitment in the limelight anew every year. That is why our commitment involves coming up with exciting ideas again and again that bring MAN to life in the world of soccer and rejuvenate our brand,” continues Sander.

“Our team bus puts MAN very close to the Bundesliga team. The comfort of the vehicle plays a key role in optimal recovery during the journey. That is why we greatly appreciate the high quality that MAN provides us with and thanks it for the excellent cooperation that we want to actively continue in the coming years,” adds Thomas Röttgermann.

MAN has been an official exclusive partner of VfL Wolfsburg since 2010 and as the commercial vehicle partner provides the Wolves’ official team bus.
